MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

Plaintiffs Tim Botonis and Liam Patrick Meikle (“Plaintiffs”) request preliminary approval of a class and representative action settlement reflected in the executed Joint Stipulation of Class Action and PAGA Settlement Agreement (“Settlement Agreement”) submitted with this application. The Settlement is between Plaintiffs and Defendant Bimbo Bakeries, USA, Inc. (“Defendant”). Defendant does not oppose the motion.

I. INTRODUCTION

Plaintiffs and Defendant have reached a settlement of the above-captioned class and representative action (“Settlement”), which is embodied in the Settlement Agreement, attached as Exhibit A to the Declaration of Costa Kerestenzis (“Kerestenzis Decl.”), filed concurrently herewith. By this Motion, Plaintiffs seek preliminary approval of the Agreement as fair, reasonable, and adequate, entry of the Preliminary Approval Order, and scheduling of the Final Approval Hearing to determine final approval of the Settlement. The Court need not yet engage in a full evaluation of the Settlement, which will follow notice and the opportunity for the class members to opt-out or object.

The proposed $875,000 non-reversionary settlement of this class and representative wage and hour case was achieved after extensive negotiations. The Settlement will provide monetary payments to over 1,692 Class Members with an average gross settlement award of $417.10 per Class Member. The Settlement also involves non-monetary prospective relief, as Defendant is implementing a new expense reimbursement policy and providing communications-related upgrades to the company-issued devices provided to Class Members and Aggrieved Employees in connection with the Settlement. As set forth more fully below, the proposed Settlement satisfies all the criteria for settlement approval under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23. The Settlement was reached after substantial investigation and informal discovery consisting of the production by Defendants in advance of mediation of relevant policies, records, and data regarding Plaintiffs and that the Court preliminarily approve the proposed Settlement, certify the proposed Class for settlement purposes, approve the distribution of notice of the proposed Settlement, and set a Final Approval Hearing.

1       II. BACKGROUND AND PROCEDURE

2              Defendant directly or through its affiliates operates bakeries, distribution centers, and sales
 3              centers throughout California. Plaintiffs work out of Defendant's Sacramento distribution center.
 4              Plaintiff Botonis is a Route Sales Professional and Plaintiff Meikle is a Transport Associate.
 5              (Kerestenzis Decl., ¶ 7.)

6              On May 10, 2022, Plaintiffs filed a putative class action lawsuit in Sacramento County 7              Superior Court on behalf of a putative class comprising "all current and former drivers (including 8              relief drivers) and route salespersons, ("the Class" or "putative Class Members") who are or have 9              been employed by Defendant in the State of California and to whom Defendant has failed to (a) 10             reimburse for business expenses; (b) provide accurate itemized wage statements; and (c) pay wages
 11             upon termination or severance of employment at any time for four (4) years prior to the original filing 12             of this lawsuit and continuing through the date of judgment in this action related to the allegations set 13             forth above regarding the use of personal cell phones." Complaint, ¶ 23. Plaintiffs thereafter filed an 14             Amended Class Action Complaint to include a PAGA claim and seeking PAGA penalties based on 15             the foregoing alleged Labor Code violations. Plaintiff's Class Action Complaint and Amended Class 16             Action Complaint are specifically based on Defendant's alleged failure to reimburse employees for 17             the business expenses, specifically the alleged use of their personal cell phones for work-related 18             purposes. Complaint, ¶15.

19              On August 16, 2022, Defendant removed the state court action to the United States District 20              Court for the Eastern District of California, where it has since been pending.

21       A. Exchange of Materials and Investigation

22              In advance of mediation, the Parties engaged in a substantial exchange of information and 23              engaged in an analysis of the underlying merits of Plaintiffs' claims, defenses thereto, potential 24              damages, and possible certification. Defendant produced documents, including: Defendant's 25              employment policies and procedures relating to cell phone use and expense reimbursements;
 26              Plaintiffs' personnel files and pay records; Plaintiffs' collective bargaining agreement; job putative 27              class members. The negotiations were at arms-length and non-collusive and were facilitated by 28              experienced wage and hour mediator John Hyland over the course of a full-day mediation session and

1 follow-up negotiations between the parties. Accordingly, Plaintiffs request descriptions applicable to 2 Plaintiffs and putative class members; and data points for the putative Class Members to assess 3 potential exposure on Plaintiffs' putative class and PAGA claims.

4 Plaintiffs' counsel performed a lengthy and examination of the records and researching the 5 average cost of a cell phone bill by reviewing the cell phone costs for the top four providers and,
 6 importantly, interviewing Class Members and working with the Class Representatives to understand 7 the total time members spend on their phones for work to assess the strength of the claims and each 8 parties' positions. Plaintiffs' counsel also conducted research on other cell phone reimbursement 9 settlements to determine a reasonable settlement. (Kerestenzis Decl., ¶¶ 13-15.) In addition to the 10 understanding gained regarding the claims, Class Counsel also drew on their extensive experience in 11 similar cases to assess the strengths and weaknesses of Plaintiffs' claims and the value of same.
 12 (Kerestenzis Decl., ¶¶ 18-21; 28-34.)

13       B.     Mediation and Subsequent Negotiations

14 On January 17, 2023, the Parties participated in a full-day mediation with John Hyland, a 15 third-party neutral who has served as lead class counsel for dozens of wage/hour class actions and is 16 experienced in mediating wage and hour class actions. During mediation, the Parties engaged in 17 approximately 9 hours of extensive and informed arm's-length negotiations. While the Parties did 18 not settle on the day of mediation, both parties ultimately accepted a mediator's proposal, which 19 outlined a framework for resolution. After accepting the mediator's proposal, the parties continued to 20 negotiate at arm's-length over the remaining terms of the settlement. (Kerestenzis Decl., ¶¶ 16-17.)

21       III.    PLAINTIFFS' CLAIMS

22 Plaintiffs' Complaint is premised on their claim that Defendant failed to provide reasonable and 23 necessary expense reimbursement to class members for the alleged business use of their personal cell 24 phones, in violation of Labor Code section 2802. Specifically, Plaintiffs' expense reimbursement claim 25 is based on the theory that they and other putative class members were required to use their personal 26 cell phones for work-related purposes without being provided reimbursement. The Complaint alleges:
 27 "All Plaintiffs and the putative Class Members are regularly required to use their personal cell phones

1 for work purposes, including to communicate regarding the ordering and delivery of the Defendant's 2 products. All Plaintiffs and the putative Class are required to be available by their cell phone and will 3 receive communications about work issues through their personal cell phones." Complaint, ¶ 15.
 4 Based on this alleged failure to reimburse expenses, Plaintiffs assert derivative claims for failure to 5 provide accurate itemized wage statements under Labor Code section 226 and waiting time penalties 6 under Labor Code section 203 and related PAGA penalties.

7 Additionally, Plaintiffs' PAGA claims are derivative of all of Plaintiffs' above-described 8 wage and hour claims based on the Labor Code. Accordingly, Plaintiffs' PAGA claims cover all 9 Class Members who also qualify as PAGA Members—i.e., if the Class Member is currently or was 10 employed by Defendant in California as a Transport Associate (also referred to as Drivers, including 11 Relief Drivers) or Route Sales Professional or any associate doing similar work<sup>2</sup> during the Class
 12 Period. (Kerestenzis Decl., Ex. A, Settlement Agreement at ¶ 23.)

13 IV. SUMMARY OF THE SETTLEMENT TERMS

14 A. Composition of the Settlement Class

15 The Class or Settlement Class consists of "all current and former individuals who are or 16 previously were employed by Defendant in California as Transport Associates or Route Sales 17 Professionals or any associate doing similar work<sup>3</sup> during the Class Period (i.e., May 10, 2018 to 18 August 26, 2023)." All Class Members are subject to Plaintiffs' theory of alleged unpaid expense 19 reimbursement for the alleged use of their personal cell phones for work-related purposes and related 20 derivative statutory and PAGA penalties.

21 B. Settlement Consideration and Calculation of Settlement Payments

22 Plaintiffs and Defendant have agreed to settle all class claims and representative claims 23 alleged in the Action in exchange for the Gross Settlement Amount ("GSA") of $875,000. The GSA 24 includes: (1) settlement payments to Participating Class Members; (2) up to $130,000 in attorneys' 25 fees, or less than 15% of the GSA; (3) up to $10,000 in litigation costs and expenses to Class

1 Counsel; (4) class representative service awards of $5,000 each to Plaintiffs; (5) $10,000 allocated to 2 settle PAGA claims, of which a $7,500 payment will be made to the LWDA to account for the 3 LWDA's 75% portion of the PAGA penalties; and, (6) Settlement Administrator fees capped at 4 $15,000, with an estimate from Phoenix Settlement Administrators that the cost will be $11,765.
 5 (Kerestenzis Decl., ¶ 23.) Based on the above, the Net Settlement Amount ("NSA") from which 6 payments to Participating Class Members will be paid is projected to be no less than $705,735.
 7 (Kerestenzis Decl., ¶ 23.)

8 Subject to the Court approving attorneys' fees and costs, the payment to the LWDA, 9 Settlement Administration Costs, and Plaintiffs' Service Payments, the NSA will be distributed to all 10 Participating Class Members, and will be apportioned among Settlement Class Members based on 11 whether the Settlement Class Member qualifies as a PAGA Member in addition to being a Class 12 Member. (Kerestenzis Decl., Ex. A, Settlement Agreement at ¶ 49.) Because the GSA is non-13 reversionary, 100% of the NSA will be paid to Participating Class Members without the need to a 14 submit claim for payment. (Kerestenzis Decl., Ex. A, Settlement Agreement at ¶ 50.) This recovery 15 is in the range of other wage and hour class action settlements approved by California state and 16 federal courts and is adequate and reasonable.

17 C. Prospective Relief

18 In addition to the monetary relief provided under the settlement, Defendant also agreed as part 19 of the settlement to issue, by the time of preliminary approval, a revised expense reimbursement 20 policy applicable to Settlement Class Members and Aggrieved Employees that will note the right of 21 California employees to submit requests for expense reimbursement in instances when employees 22 believe they are required to use their personal cell phones for reasonable and necessary work-related 23 purposes. Defendant also agreed to provide, by preliminary approval, communications-related 24 updates to company-issued devices, (e.g., tablets for Transport Associates and handheld computers 25 for Route Sales Professionals) that will enable texting and/or talking capabilities and thus minimize 26 or eliminate the need to use cell phones for work. (See Kerestenzis Decl., ¶¶ 25-26; Ex. A, 27 Settlement Agreement at ¶ 52.)

1           D. Release by the Settlement Class

2           In exchange for the GSA, Class Members (including Plaintiffs) who do not opt out will agree
 3 to release for the period of May 10, 2018 to August 26, 2023 any and all known and unknown claims 4 which have been or could have been pled relating to Defendant's alleged failure to reimburse 5 business expenses for class members' alleged use of their personal cell phones for work-related 6 purposes, including any claims pursuant to or predicated on California Labor Code sections 201-204, 7 226, 226.2, 1174, 1174.5, 1194, 1194.2, 1194.3, 1197, 1197.1, 1198, 1199, 2802, 2698-2699.5, Cal.
 8 Bus. & Prof. Code §§ 17200, (Kerestenzis Decl., Ex. A, Settlement Agreement at ¶¶ 4, 53, 57.)
 9 Additionally, all Class Members, regardless of whether they opt out from the settlement of Class 10 Claims, will release the following PAGA claims: for the period from May 10, 2021 through the date
 11 of August 26, 2023, any and all claims for civil penalties pursuant to PAGA based on the allegations
 12 in Plaintiffs' PAGA notice and the allegations and PAGA claim asserted in the operative complaint 13 regarding Defendant's alleged failure to reimburse Aggrieved Employees for business expenses for 14 the alleged use of their personal cell phones for work-related purposes, as well as related claims for 15 failure to provide accurate itemized wage statements, failure to pay all earned wages due to separated 16 employees, and unfair competition. (Kerestenzis Decl., Ex. A, Settlement Agreement at ¶¶ 23, 54.)

17           The above releases are directly related to Plaintiffs' claims; accordingly, the releases in the 18 Settlement Agreement are narrowly tailored to the claims alleged in the Action or related derivative 19 claims which were pled or could have been alleged in the Action.

20           V. THE COURT SHOULD CERTIFY THE PROPOSED SETTLEMENT CLASS SINCE THE SETTLEMENT SATISFIES THE REQUIREMENTS OF FEDERAL RULE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE 23.

21           Plaintiffs seek certification of the Class. A party seeking to certify a class must demonstrate 22 that it has met the "four threshold requirements of Federal Rule of Procedure 23(a): (i) numerosity; 23 (ii) commonality; (iii) typicality; and (iv) adequacy of representation." Levya v. Medline Indus, Inc., 24 716 F.3d 510, 512 (9th Cir. 2013). Once these prerequisites are satisfied, a court must consider 25 whether the proposed class can be maintained under at least one of the requirements of Rule 23(b).
 26 Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. v. Dukes, 131 S. Ct. 2541, 2548 (2011). Plaintiffs, here, seek certification 27 pursuant to Rule 23(b)(3), which requires that "questions of law or fact common to class members

1 predominate over any questions affecting only individual members, and that a class action is superior 2 to other available methods for fairly and efficiently adjudicating the controversy.” Fed. R. Civ. P.
 3 23(b)(3). However, the Court need not evaluate the manageability prong of 23(b)(3), given that there 4 will be no trial.

5           A.     The Settlement Class is Sufficiently Numerous and Ascertainable.

6 Rule 23(a)(1) requires the class to be “so numerous that joinder of all members is 7 impracticable[.]” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a)(1). There are approximately 1,692 Class Members. See 8 (Kerestenzis Decl., ¶ 23.) With respect to Plaintiffs’ claims, all Class Members are Transport 9 Associates or Route Sales Professionals or any associate doing similar work and were subject to 10 Defendant’s alleged common policies and practices; therefore, Plaintiffs assert that the group is 11 ascertainable.

12           B.     There Are Questions of Law and Fact Common to the Class.

13 Rule 23(a)(2) requires the existence of questions of law or fact common to the class[.] Fed.
 14 R. Civ. P. 23(a)(2). If it can be answered with common proof, “for purposes of Rule 23(a)(2) even a 15 single common question will do.” Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. v. Dukes, 564 U.S. 338, 359, 131 S. Ct.
 16 2541, 2556, 180 L. Ed. 2d 374 (2011) (internal quotation marks and brackets omitted); see Parsons v.
 17 Ryan, 754 F.3d 657, 675 (9th Cir. 2014) (finding it is not necessary “that every question in the case, 18 or even a preponderance of questions, is capable of class wide resolution. So long as there is even a 19 single common question, a would-be class can satisfy the commonality requirement of Rule 20 23(a)(2).” (internal quotation marks omitted)). Commonality requires the plaintiff to demonstrate 21 that the class members have suffered the same injury but “[t]his does not mean merely that they have 22 all suffered a violation of the same provision of law.” Wal-Mart Stores, 564 U.S. at 349-50 (internal 23 quotation marks omitted). Rather, “[t]hat common contention . . . must be of such a nature that it is 24 capable of classwide resolution—which means that determination of its truth or falsity will resolve an 25 issue that is central to the validity of each one of the claims in one stroke.” Id.

26 Plaintiffs assert that the commonality requirement is satisfied in this action. Here, Plaintiffs’ 27 cell phone expense reimbursement claim turns on answers to overarching alleged common questions 28 regarding Defendant’s policies and procedures that are capable of class-wide resolution for

1 settlement purposes. For settlement purposes, the common questions asserted by Plaintiffs include:
 2 (1) whether Defendant required Transport Associates and Route Sales Professionals and other 3 associates doing similar work to use their personal cellular phones for reasonable and necessary 4 work-related purposes; and (2) whether Defendant failed to reimburse Transport Associates and 5 Route Sales Professionals or other associates doing similar work for usage of their personal cellular 6 phones for reasonable and necessary work-related purposes. Plaintiffs contend these common 7 questions predominate in the inquiry as to whether Defendant's business expense reimbursement 8 policy violated Cal. Lab. Code § 2802 with respect to cell phone reimbursement. Hopkins v. Stryker
 9 Sales Corp., 2012 WL 1715091, at *9 (N.D. Cal. May 14, 2012) (finding "common questions
 10 predominate in the inquiry as to whether Stryker's business expense reimbursement policy violated 11 Cal. Lab. Code § 2802.").

12       C.     The Representative Plaintiffs' Claims Are Typical of the Claims of the Class and Subclasses

13       Rule 23(a)(3) requires the representative parties' claims or defenses be "typical of the claims 14 or defenses of the class[.]" Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a)(3). Courts have observed that "[u]nder the 15 'permissive standards' of this Rule, 'representative claims are 'typical' if they are reasonably co-16 extensive with those of absent class members; they need not be substantially identical." Galvan v.
 17 KDI Distrib., Inc., 2011 WL 5116585, at *6 (C.D. Cal. Oct. 25, 2011) (quoting Hanlon v. Chrysler 18 Corp., 150 F.3d 1011, 1020 (9th Cir. 1988)).

19       Here, Plaintiffs and the Class Members all worked for Defendant as Transport Associates and 20 Route Sales Professionals and other associates doing similar work in California, and Plaintiffs 21 contend that they were all subject to the same allegedly non-compliant policies and practices with 22 respect to alleged personal cell phone usage for reasonable and necessary work-related purposes and 23 resulting expense reimbursement. For example, Plaintiffs allege that Defendant uniformly required 24 Class Members to be available by cell phone to receive communications about work issues through 25 their personal cell phones. Plaintiffs also allege that Defendant failed to properly compensate Class 26 Members for usage of their personal cell phones for work purposes. As a result, Plaintiffs argue that 27 they and Class Members have suffered the same or similar injuries resulting from the same or

1 similar conduct by Defendant and thus, they assert that the typicality requirement is satisfied for 2 settlement purposes. (See Declaration of Tim Botonis [“Botonis Decl.”], ¶¶ 3-5; Declaration of Liam
 3 Patrick Meikle [“Meikle Decl.”], ¶¶ 3-4.)

4       D. Plaintiffs and Plaintiffs’ Counsel Will Adequately Represent the Class.

5       A class representative must be able to “fairly and adequately represent the interests of the 6 class.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a)(4). To determine whether this requirement is met, the Ninth Circuit 7 applies a two-pronged test: “(1) do the named plaintiffs and their counsel have any conflicts of 8 interest with other class members; and (2) will the named plaintiffs and their counsel will prosecute
 9 the action vigorously on behalf of the class. In re Mego Fin. Corp. Sec. Litig., 213 F.3d 454, 462 (9th 10 Cir. 2000). Plaintiffs have no conflict of interest with other Class Members and their interests are 11 aligned with those of the Class Members, as they have vigorously represented the Class Members in 12 seeking recovery for various alleged wrongdoings on their behalf. (Botonis Decl., ¶¶ 5-8; Meikle 13 Decl., ¶¶ 4-7.) Plaintiffs’ counsel has significant experience in prosecuting wage and hour class 14 actions, and has previously been appointed as class counsel in similar cases. (Kerestenzis Decl., ¶¶ 3-15 5.)

16       E. The Class Can Be Certified Because the Requirements of FRCP Rule 23(b)(3) 17 Are Satisfied.

18       A class may be certified under Rule 23(b)(3) when “questions of law or fact common to the 19 class members predominate over any questions affecting only individual members” and the class 20 action mechanism is “superior” to other methods of adjudicating the controversy. Fed. R. Civ. Proc.
 21 23(b)(3). Here, both prongs of the Rule 23(b)(3) analysis are satisfied. However, when a class action 22 is certified for settlement purposes only, the Court “need not inquire whether the case, if tried, would 23 present intractable management problems.” Amchem Prods., Inc. v. Windsor, 521 U.S. 591, 620 24 (1997); see also Newberg on Class Actions (4th ed.) § 11:27.

25       1.       Common Issues of Law and Fact Predominate

26       “The predominance inquiry ... asks whether proposed classes are sufficiently cohesive to 27 warrant adjudication by representation.” Stearns v. Ticketmaster Corp., 655 F.3d 1013, 1019 (9th 28 Cir. 2011). “The focus is on the relationship between the common and individual issues.” Id.

1 Here, Plaintiffs assert that the proposed Class is sufficiently cohesive to warrant certification of 2 Plaintiffs' expense reimbursement claim for settlement purposes. Plaintiffs contend the following 3 common issues exist: whether Defendant's alleged common policy and practice of requiring class 4 members to use their personal cell phones for work-related purposes without providing expense 5 reimbursement for the same violates California law. As such, the questions of law and fact that are 6 common to the Class predominate over individual issues.

7       2.       The Class Action Mechanism is Superior to Any Other Methods of 8       Adjudication

9           The fact that more than 1,692 individual claims "would not only unnecessarily burden the 10 judiciary, but would prove uneconomic for potential plaintiffs," weighs heavily in favor of a class 11 resolution. See Hanlon, 150 F.3d at 1023.

12       VI. THE PROPOSED CLASS ACTION SHOULD RECEIVE PRELIMINARY APPROVAL AS IT MEETS ALL OF THE REQUIREMENTS OF RULE 23

13           "[T]he preliminary approval stage [i]s an 'initial evaluation' of the fairness of the proposed 14 settlement made by the court on the basis of written submissions and informal presentation from the 15 settling parties." In re High-Tech Emp. Antitrust Litig., 2013 WL 6328811, at *1 (N.D. Cal. Oct. 30, 16 2013). A court need not conduct a complete analysis of the fairness factors at this time because 17 "some of these 'fairness' factors cannot be fully assessed until the Court conducts the final approval 18 hearing[.]" Lusby v. Gamestop Inc., 297 F.R.D. 400, 412 (N.D. Cal. 2013). Instead, at this stage, 19 "[p]reliminary approval of a settlement and notice to the class is appropriate if '1] the proposed 20 settlement appears to be the product of serious, informed, non-collusive negotiations, [2] has no 21 obvious deficiencies, [3] does not improperly grant preferential treatment to class representatives or 22 segments of the class, and [4] falls within the range of possible approval.'" Johnson v. Quantum 23 Learning Network, Inc., 2016 WL 4529607, at *1 (N.D. Cal. Aug. 30, 2016) (quoting In re 24 Tableware, 484 F. Supp. 2d at 1079). The "decision to approve or reject a settlement is committed to 25 the sound discretion of the trial judge[.]" In re Mego Fin. Corp. Sec. Litig., 213 F.3d 454, 458 (9th 26 Cir. 2000), as amended (June 19, 2000) (internal quotation marks omitted). As set forth below, the 27 Settlement meets these requirements.

1           A. The Class Representatives and Class Counsel Have Adequately Represented the 2           Class.

3           As discussed above, Plaintiffs and their counsel have adequately represented the Class.

4           Therefore, this requirement is satisfied.

5           B. The Settlement Is the Product of Arms-Length Negotiations and Is Therefore 6           Entitled to a Presumption of Fairness.

7           “Preliminary approval is appropriate if the proposed settlement is the product of serious, 8           informed, non-collusive negotiations.” In re Volkswagen “Clean Diesel” Mktg., Sales Practices, and 9           Prods. Liab. Litig., 2016 WL 4010049, *14 (N.D. Cal. July 26, 2016). Here, the Parties participated 10          in a full-day mediation session with John Hyland, an experienced wage and hour mediator, and 11          engaged in subsequent follow-up discussions with Mr. Hyland after an almost 10-hour mediation. At 12          all times, the Parties’ negotiations were adversarial and non-collusive. This participation weighs 13          considerably against any inference of a collusive settlement. See In re Apple Computer, Inc.
Derivative Litig., 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 108195 (N.D. Cal. Nov. 5, 2008).

14           The Parties were represented by experienced class action counsel throughout the negotiations 15          resulting in this Settlement. Plaintiffs were represented by Beeson, Tayer & Bodine, APC, a firm that 16          regularly litigates wage and hour claims, and has considerable experience settling wage and hour 17          class actions. (See Kerestenizis Decl. ¶¶ 3-5.) Defendant was represented by Morgan Lewis, which 18          operates a highly-respected nationwide class action defense practice.

19           Moreover, no indicia of potential collusion exists here where there is no reversion to 20          Defendant, no disproportionate service payment to Plaintiffs as class representatives, and no
 21          disproportionately large attorneys’ fee award. Therefore, the Settlement should be preliminarily 22          approved for settlement purposes.

23           C. The Relief Provided to the Class Is Adequate.

24           The third factor requires the Court to consider whether “the relief provided for the class is 25          adequate, taking into account: (i) the costs, risks, and delay of trial and appeal; (ii) the effectiveness 26          of any proposed method of distributing relief to the class, including the method of processing class-27          member claims; (iii) the terms of any proposed award of attorney’s fees, including timing of 28          payment; and (iv) any agreement required to be identified under Rule 23(e)(3).” Fed. R. Civ. P.

1 23(e)(2)(C).

2       1.     Costs, Risks, and Delay of Trial and Appeal

3           In accordance with Rule 23(e)(2)'s instruction to evaluate "the costs, risks, and delay of trial 4 and appeal," courts assess "the strength of the plaintiffs' case; the risk, expense, complexity, and 5 likely duration of further litigation; [and] the risk of maintaining class action status throughout the 6 trial." Hanlon, 150 F.3d at 1026. This inquiry evaluates "plaintiffs' expected recovery balanced 7 against the value of the settlement offer." In re Tableware Antitrust Litig., 484 F. Supp. 2d at 1080.

8           During this matter's pendency, Class Counsel thoroughly investigated and researched the 9 claims in controversy and the defenses. The investigation entailed the exchange of information 10 pursuant to substantial informal discovery. In the course of such informal discovery, Class Counsel 11 received and analyzed adequate information to properly investigate and evaluate the claims, 12 including: Defendant's employment policies and procedures relating to personal cell phone use and 13 expense reimbursements; Plaintiffs' pay records; Plaintiffs' collective bargaining agreement and 14 personnel files; and data regarding Class Members' months worked to assess potential damages and 15 statutory and PAGA penalties. The extensive document and data exchange allowed Class Counsel to 16 appreciate the strengths and weaknesses of the claims alleged against the benefits of the proposed 17 Settlement. (Kerestenzis Decl., ¶¶ 13-15, 18-21, 28-34.)

18       2.     Defendant Has Asserted Defenses Creating Risk that the Class Will Receive No
 19 Recovery If the Claims at Issue Are Not Settled

20           Throughout this litigation, Defendant has indicated that it intends to vigorously contest the 21 forum of this litigation, class certification, PAGA manageability, and Plaintiffs' claims on the merits.
 22 While Plaintiffs do not agree with Defendant's arguments regarding class certification, PAGA 23 manageability, or Defendant's defenses on the merits to Plaintiffs' claims, Plaintiffs recognize that 24 there is a risk that the Court and/or a jury will agree with Defendant, and thus, limit or eliminate 25 Class Members' ability to recover on the claims at issue.

26           With respect to Plaintiffs' claim for reimbursement of necessary business expenses, 27 Defendant contended there was no written or unwritten policy that required Transport Associates or 28 Route Service Professionals to use their personal phones for work-related purposes. Defendant      15

1 also contended that Plaintiffs' and putative class members' job duties did not require them to use
 2 their personal cell phones for work-related purposes. Further, Defendant contended that its policies
 3 in fact prohibited Plaintiffs and Class Members from using their personal cell phones while driving, 4 which is a primary job duty of both Transport Associates and Route Sales Professionals. Also, 5 Defendant asserted Plaintiffs could not proffer any evidence of any policy whereby Defendant 6 refused to provide a company issued phone to any putative class member who may have requested
 7 one. Furthermore, during the relevant time period, Defendant contended that Class Members 8 submitted and received expense reimbursement through Defendant's SAP Concur program for 9 various expenses such as mileage reimbursement. Finally, Defendant contended that it was not aware 10 of any requests by Plaintiffs for cell phone reimbursement for instances when they used their personal 11 phones for work-related purposes. As such, Defendant argued Plaintiffs and putative Class Members 12 did not incur any other reasonable and necessary business expenses, but that even if they had, they 13 had the opportunity to request reimbursement of any such expenses but failed to do so.

14 With respect to Plaintiffs' derivative claims, Defendant argued that a failure to pay expense 15 reimbursement does not support a claim for waiting time penalties under Labor Code section 203 or 16 inaccurate wage statements under Labor Code section 226. Furthermore, waiting time penalties are 17 recoverable only when a willful violation of section 201 or 202 has occurred. As for wage statements, 18 Defendant argued that there can be no violation of Labor Code section 226(a)(8) for a failure to 19 provide expense reimbursement, given that employers are not required to list expense reimbursement 20 on a wage statement.

21 Defendant had good faith defenses to all of Plaintiffs' claims, and, as such, maintained 22 Plaintiffs would not be able to recover damages for their claims, either on a statutory basis or civil 23 penalties under PAGA. As for PAGA, Defendant contended that Plaintiffs and putative aggrieved 24 employees would not recover civil penalties because they are not "aggrieved employees" because 25 their underlying Labor Code section 2802 claims would fail as a matter of law, so they would not be 26 entitled to any PAGA civil penalties.

1                   3.     Plaintiffs' Exposure Analysis

2                 Based upon the analysis of various class data, including a sampling of Defendant's business 3 records, there were approximately 1,692 putative class members who are or previously were 4 employed by Defendant in California as Transport Associates (also referred to as Drivers, including 5 Relief Drivers) and Route Sales Professionals or any associate doing similar work<sup>4</sup> since May 10, 6 2018. Plaintiffs determined that the average cost of a phone and the cost of coverage in California is 7 about $114.00 a month. Plaintiffs took the position that the putative Class Members use their cell 8 phone for work purposes for approximately one hour each day. Plaintiffs used that framework to 9 negotiate the settlement and determine how much each employee was owed per month. Moreover, in 10 researching similar claims, Plaintiffs' determined that a settlement which would yield around $10.00 11 a month was a reasonable settlement which was ultimately attained in this case. (Kerestenzis Decl., 12 ¶¶ 13-15, 18-21, 24, 30.)

13                 As noted above, Plaintiffs' expense reimbursement claim is based on the theory that they and 14 other putative class members were required to use their personal cell phones for work-related 15 purposes without reimbursement, including communicating regarding the ordering and delivery of 16 Defendant's products and being available to receive communications about work issues through their 17 personal cell phones. Complaint, ¶ 15. Even though Plaintiffs argue that these theories of expense 18 reimbursement liability are certifiable,<sup>5</sup> Plaintiffs' counsel ascribed a lower value to these theories 19 because there is a factual dispute regarding the extent to which the putative Class Members use their 20 personal cell phones for work and the Defendant maintains a policy limiting employees' ability to use 21 their personal cell phones while driving or operating a vehicle. (Kerestenzis Decl., ¶¶ 18-21.)
 22 Further, Plaintiffs considered other issues such as a legal question as to whether business expense 23 reimbursements are not considered wages, such that an employee may not be entitled to penalties for

24                 <sup>4</sup> Employees encompassed within the definition of Aggrieved Employees include but are not limited to the following:
 25 Bakery RSR; Commission Sales Representative; Relief Driver; Relief Drivers; Relief Route Drivers; Route Relief; 26 Route Sales Representative; Route Sales Representative-Express Routes; Route Sales Representatives; Vacation Relief RSR.

27                 <sup>5</sup> Defendant also contended Plaintiffs' cell phone expense claim would not be certified, citing cases where courts denied certification of such claims. See, e.g., Casey v. Home Depot, 2016 WL 7479347, at *29 (C.D. Cal. Sept. 15, 2016); Dugan v. Ashley Furniture Indus., Inc., 2016 WL 9173459, at *4 (C.D. Cal. Nov. 29, 2016). This was another 17 risk Plaintiffs considered in assessing the value of the settlement.

1 failure to provide accurate wage statements or provide wages upon termination. (Kerestenzis Decl., 2 ¶¶ 29-31.)

3 The amount of PAGA penalties would add a modest amount to the valuation of the PAGA
 4 claims for settlement purposes. In this regard, Defendant strongly argued that Labor Code § 5 2699(e)(2) expressly provides that “...a court may award a lesser amount than the maximum civil 6 penalty amount specified by this part if, based on the facts and circumstances of the particular case, to 7 do otherwise would result in an award that is unjust, arbitrary and oppressive, or confiscatory.” 8 There is a substantial risk that the Court could significantly reduce civil penalties if it is unpersuaded 9 by Plaintiffs’ evidence of willful and intentional conduct. See Carrington v. Starbucks Corp., 30 Cal.
 10 App. 5th 514 (2014) (PAGA penalties reduced by 90%); Parr v. Golden State Overnight Delivery
 11 Service, Inc., 2014 WL 11199453, *2 (Alameda Super. Ct. Jul. 10, 2014) (PAGA penalties reduced 12 by 95%); Morales v. Bridgestone, Case No. 30-2017-00900244 (Orange County Super. Ct.) (Aug. 2, 13 2018) (PAGA penalties reduced by 94%). Moreover, approval of PAGA allocations in the class 14 context show wide variance in the amounts determined by the Court to be fair, reasonable and 15 adequate. See e.g., Reed v. Thousand Oaks Toyota, No. 56-2012-00419282-CU-OE-VTA, 2013 WL
 16 8118716 (Cal. Super. Ct. Apr. 8, 2013) (class action settlement approved for $108,624, with $1,500 17 allocated towards PAGA penalties); Bolton v. U.S. Nursing Corp., No. 12-CV-4466-LB, 2013 WL 18 5700403 (N.D. Cal. Oct. 18, 2013) (approving class action settlement for $1,700,000, with $15,000 19 allocated towards PAGA).

20 Here, due to Defendant’s defenses, Defendant argued that there should be a low valuation for 21 the PAGA claims. For example, Defendant maintained there was no unlawful uniform 22 reimbursement policy consistently applied to any group of employees and, therefore, Plaintiffs will 23 face insurmountable difficulties in pursuing their PAGA claim on behalf of themselves as putative 24 aggrieved employees or on behalf of other employees at the Sacramento facility where Plaintiffs 25 worked, and even more so on behalf of other California employees working out of Defendant’s other 26 facilities. Plaintiffs’ counsel also considered the difficulty of proving the frequency and extent that 27 Class Members used their personal cell phones and Defendant’s own policies that would have created 28

1 significant risks with continued litigation. (Kerestenzis Decl., ¶¶ 18-21, 29-31.)

2 Plaintiffs' counsel also applied appropriate discounts to Plaintiffs' PAGA claim predicated on 3 alleged waiting time penalties claim for former employees because of (1) Defendant's defenses
 4 discussed above; (2) Defendant's argument that waiting time penalties are recoverable only when a 5 willful violation has occurred (see Cal. Code Regs. Tit. 8, § 13520); and (3) Defendant's argument 6 that a waiting time penalties claim cannot be based on failure to pay expense reimbursements (see 7 Drumm v. Morningstar, Inc., 695 F. Supp. 2d 1014, 1021 (N.D. Cal. 2010) ("expense 8 reimbursements are not 'amounts for labor performed,' and are not appropriately part of the [waiting 9 time penalties] calculation.") (internal citation omitted). (Kerestenzis Decl., ¶ 31.)

10 Appropriate discounts were also applied to Plaintiffs' wage statements claims in light of 11 Defendant's argument there can be no violation of Labor Code section 226(a)(8) for a failure to 12 provide expense reimbursement, given that employers are not required to list expense reimbursement
 13 on a wage statement. (Kerestenzis Decl., ¶ 31.)

14 Additionally, Defendant raised manageability defenses to Plaintiffs' PAGA claims.
 15 Defendant maintains that a PAGA claim will be deemed unmanageable if individualized inquiries are 16 necessary to establish liability and ascertain which employees are aggrieved. See, e.g., Ortiz v. CVS Caremark Corp., 2014 WL 1117614, at *4 (N.D. Cal. Mar. 19, 2014) (striking PAGA claim as 17 unmanageable) ("[T]he circumstances of this case make the PAGA claim here unmanageable because 18 a multitude of individualized assessments would be necessary ... [p]roof of this [off-the-clock] claim 19 would be unmanageable, and could not be done with statistical or survey evidence but only with 20 detailed inquiries about each employee claimed to have done so and her manager's knowledge 21 thereof."); Amey v. Cinemark, 2015 WL 2251504, at *16 (N.D. Cal. May 13, 2015) (dismissing 22 PAGA claims; "[W]hen the evidence shows, as it does here, that numerous individualized 23 determinations would be necessary to determine whether any class member has been injured by 24 [defendant's] conduct, then allowing a representative action to proceed is inappropriate."); Bowers v.
First Student, Inc., 2015 WL 1862914, at *4 (C.D. Cal. Apr. 23, 2015) (same) (internal quotations 25 and citations omitted). Moreover, in Wesson v. Staples, 68 Cal. App. 5th 746 (Sep. 9, 2021), the

1 California Court of Appeal recently affirmed the striking of a plaintiff's entire PAGA claim on 2 manageability grounds. While the Wesson decision is at issue in Estrada v. Royalty Carpet Mills, Inc., Case No. S274340, pending before the California Supreme Court, and the parties are cognizant 3 of the Ninth Circuit's recent decision in Hamilton v. Wal-Mart, 39 F.4th 575 (9th Cir. 2022), the 4 unresolved nature of the manageability issue under California law and the reality of significant court 5 reductions of PAGA penalties in both state and federal courts presented significant risks for any 6 recovery under PAGA.
 7

8 Here, Plaintiffs applied discounts to the value of the PAGA claims in settlement negotiations 9 in light of Defendant's arguments on the merits of Plaintiffs' underlying claims. As is always the 10 case with a trial, Plaintiffs needed to accept that there was a possibility that they would not prevail.
 11 Thus, in the face of such uncertainty, settlement was advantageous to Plaintiffs, the LWDA, and the 12 aggrieved employees, as it secured a reasonable monetary recovery and prospective relief.
 13 (Kerestenzis Decl., ¶¶ 31-34.)

14       4.     Allocation to LWDA for PAGA Penalties

15 Pursuant to the Settlement Agreement, $10,000 from the GSA shall be allocated to the 16 resolution of the PAGA claim, of which 75% ($7,500) will be paid directly to the LWDA, and the 17 remaining 25% will be added to the NSA. Where, as here, PAGA penalties are negotiated in good 18 faith and "there is no indication that [the] amount was the result of self-interest at the expense of 19 other Class Members," such amounts are generally considered reasonable. Hopson v. Hanesbrands Inc., Case No. 08-00844, 2009 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 33900, at *24 (N.D. Cal. Apr. 3, 2009).

21 Class Counsel will submit a copy of the Settlement to the LWDA before the hearing of this 22 Motion.

23       5.     Benefits to Early Resolution

24 The potential risks attending further litigation also support early resolution and preliminary 25 approval. Courts have long recognized the inherent risks and "vagaries of litigation," and 26 emphasized the comparative benefits of "immediate recovery by way of the compromise to the mere 27 possibility of relief in the future, after protracted and expensive litigation." Nat'l Rural 28

1        Telecommunications Coop. v. DIRECTV, Inc., 221 F.R.D. 523 at 526 (C.D. Cal. 2004).

2              Additionally, early resolutions save time and money that would otherwise go to litigation.
 3              Parties' resources, as well as the Court's, would be further taxed by continued litigation. Moreover,
 4              the potential for years of delayed recovery is a significant concern for Plaintiffs and putative class 5              and representative action members. Considered against the risks of continued litigation, and the 6              importance of the employment rights and a speedy recovery to plaintiff class/representative members, 7              the totality of relief provided under the proposed Settlement is more than adequate and well within 8              the range of reasonableness. Importantly, the Class Members are expected to receive an average 9              gross payment of $417.10 for their cell phone reimbursement claims. (Kerestenzis Decl., ¶ 23.)
 10          Considering other wage and hour lawsuits that yield a similar settlement amount often involve 11          numerous alleged Labor Code violations, the relief that the Class Members are receiving is fair, 12          adequate, and reasonable.

13          In summary, although Plaintiffs and their counsel maintained a strong belief in the underlying 14          merits of the claims, they also acknowledge the significant challenges posed by continued litigation 15          through trial. Accordingly, when balanced against the risk and expense of continued litigation, the 16          Settlement is fair, adequate, and reasonable. Linney v. Cellular Alaska P'ship, 151 F.3d 1234, 1242 17          (9th Cir. 1998) ("the very essence of a settlement is compromise, a yielding of absolutes and an 18          abandoning of highest hopes").

19          D.        The Method of Distributing Relief to the Class Is Effective.

20          The Notice of Proposed Class Action and PAGA Settlement ("Notice of Settlement") and 21          settlement administration procedure proposed by the Settlement Agreement satisfy due process.
 22          FRCP Rule 23(c)(2) requires the Court to direct the litigants to provide Class Members with the "best 23          notice practicable" under the circumstances, including "individual notice to all members who can be 24          identified through reasonable effort." Eisen v. Carlisle & Jacqueline, 417 U.S. 156, 173 (1974).
 25          Where the names and addresses of Class Members are easily ascertainable, individual notice through 26          the mail constitutes the "best notice practicable." Id. at 175.

27          The Notice of Settlement was jointly drafted and approved by the Parties and provides Class

1 Members with all required information so that each member may make an informed decision
 2 regarding his or her participation in the Settlement. The Notice of Settlement provides information 3 regarding the nature of the lawsuit, a summary of the substance of the settlement terms, the class 4 definition definitions, the deadlines by which Class Members must submit Request for Exclusion or 5 objection, the date for the final approval hearing, the formula used to calculate settlement payments, a 6 statement that the Court has preliminarily approved the settlement, and a statement that Class 7 Members will release the settled claims unless they opt out.

8 The Settlement Administrator will mail the Notice of Settlement to all Class Members via 9 first class United States mail. (Kerestenzis Decl., Ex. A, Settlement Agreement at ¶¶ 63-68.) Prior 10 to mailing the Notice of Settlement, the Settlement Administrator will search the National Change of 11 Address List and update the Class Data to reflect any identifiable address changes. Any Notices of 12 Settlement returned to the Settlement Administrator as undeliverable on or before the deadline for 13 postmarking opt-outs shall be sent promptly via First-Class U.S. Mail to the forwarding address 14 affixed thereto. If no forwarding address is provided, the Settlement Administrator shall promptly 15 attempt to determine the correct address using a single skip-trace or other search using the name, 16 address and/or Social Security Number of the Class Member involved.

17       E. The Requested Attorneys' Fees Are Conservative and Reasonable.

18 The California Supreme Court has endorsed the percentage method of awarding attorneys' 19 fees where a class action suit results in a common fund for the class, noting that its benefits as 20 compared to the lodestar method include the method's "relative ease of calculation, alignment of 21 incentives between counsel and the class, a better approximation of market conditions in a 22 contingency case, and the encouragement it provides counsel to seek an early settlement and avoid 23 unnecessarily prolonging the litigation." Laffitte v. Robert Half Int'l, Inc., 1 Cal. 5th 480, 503 (2016).
 24 The Ninth Circuit is in accord about the benefits of the percentage method. See In re Bluetooth 25 Headset Prods. Liab. Litig., 654 F.3d 935, 942 (9th Cir. 2011) ("Because the benefit to the class is 26 easily quantified in common-fund settlements, we have allowed courts to award attorneys a 27 percentage of the common fund in lieu of the often more time-consuming task of calculating the

1 lodestar.”). Thus, “the percentage-of-the-fund method is preferred when counsel’s efforts have 2 created a common fund for the benefit of the class.” In re Capacitors Antitrust Litig., 2018 WL 3 4790575, at *2 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 21, 2018).

4 Here, Plaintiffs’ counsel seek only 15% of the Gross Settlement Amount in attorneys’ fees 5 ($130,000) plus reimbursement of reasonable expenses and costs, such as mediation fees, filing fees
 6 and service fees ($10,000). This percentage is well below the fee awards approved in numerous other 7 cases and therefore presumptively reasonable. See, e.g., Morris v. Lifescan, Inc., 54 Fed. App’x. 663, 8 664 (9th Cir. 2003) (affirming fee award of 33% of fund); In re Mego Fin. Corp. Sec. Litig., 213 F.3d
 9 454, 457, 463 (9th Cir. 2000) (affirming fee award of 33.3% of fund); Milburn v. PetSmart, Inc., 10 2019 WL 5566313, at *10 (E.D. Cal. Oct. 29, 2019) (awarding 33.3% of fund); Vedachalam v. Tata
 11 Consultancy Servs., Ltd., 2013 WL 3941319, at *2 (N.D. Cal. July 18, 2013) (collecting cases 12 awarding 30% or more); Johnson v. Gen. Mills, Inc., 2013 WL 3213832, at *6 (C.D. Cal. June 17, 13 2013) (approving fee award of 30% of fund); Cicero v. DirecTV, Inc., 2010 WL 2991486, at *6 (C.D.
 14 Cal. July 27, 2010) (“courts usually award attorneys’ fees in the 30–40% range in wage and hour class 15 actions that result in ... a common fund under $10 million”).

16 In determining whether an attorneys’ fee award is justified, the Court must evaluate the results 17 obtained on behalf of the class. See Vizcaino v. Microsoft Corp., 142 F. Supp. 2d 1299, 1304 (W.D.
 18 Wash. 2001), aff’d, 290 F.3d 1043 (9th Cir. 2002). Plaintiffs’ counsel has obtained favorable 19 settlement terms in this case, as discussed above. Thus, here, Plaintiffs assert that the attorneys’ fees 20 sought are reasonable given the complexity of the litigation.

21       F.     There Are No Agreements Made in Connection with the Settlement Other than 22            What Plaintiffs Already Identified.

23 There are no agreements between the Parties in connection with the Settlement other than what 24 Plaintiffs identified herein and in the Parties’ Joint Stipulation of Class Action and PAGA Settlement.
 25 (Kerestenzis Decl., Ex. A.)

26       G.     The Settlement Provides for Equitable Treatment of Class Members.

27 The Settlement provides for the equitable treatment of Class Members. The settlement 28 payments are separated into two funds, reflecting the value of the separate releases: (1) the Class      23

1 Fund for those Class Members who were employed by Defendant in California at any time from May 2 10, 2018 through August 26, 2023; and (2) the PAGA Fund for those Class Members who were 3 employed by Defendant in California at any time from May 10, 2021 through August 26, 2023.

4 Because longer-term employees of Defendant will be more likely to qualify for both funds, they will 5 also tend to receive higher payouts than shorter-term employees.

6 Plaintiffs each also intend to apply for a $5,000 Service Payment. (Kerestenzis Decl., ¶¶ 36-7 37; Botonis Decl., ¶¶ 6-10; Meikle Decl., ¶¶ 5-9.) The Ninth Circuit has recognized that service 8 awards to named plaintiffs in a class action are permissible and do not necessarily render a settlement
 9 unfair or unreasonable. See Staton v. Boeing Co., 327 F.3d 938, 977 (9th Cir. 2003). The service 10 award, however, must be “reasonable,” and the Court “must evaluate their awards individually, using 11 ‘relevant factors includ[ing] the actions the plaintiff has taken to protect the interests of the class, the 12 degree to which the class has benefitted from those actions, ... the amount of time and effort the 13 plaintiff expended in pursuing the litigation ... and reasonabl[e] fear[s of] workplace retaliation.” Id.

14 Here, the Service Payments sought by Plaintiffs are very reasonable given the time expended by 15 Plaintiffs on behalf of the Class, and service awards of this amount or greater have been approved in 16 numerous cases. See, e.g., China Agritech, Inc. v. Resh, 138 S. Ct. 1800, 1811 n.7 (2018) (class 17 representative may obtain incentive award of up to $25,000); Moore v. PetSmart, Inc., 2015 WL 18 5439000, at *13 (N.D. Cal. Aug. 4, 2015) (awarding $10,000 service awards); Bellinghausen v.
 19 Tractor Supply Co., 306 F.R.D. 245, 267 (N.D. Cal. 2015) (incentive awards typically range from 20 $2,000 to $10,000); Galeener v. Source Refrigeration & HVAC, Inc., 2015 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 193096, 21 at *7-8 (N.D. Cal. Aug. 21, 2015) (collecting cases and holding that service awards of $27,000, 22 $25,000, $15,000, and $2,000 were “fair and reasonable”); Garner v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co., 23 2010 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 49477, at *47 (N.D. Cal. Apr. 22, 2010) (compiling cases and holding service 24 awards of $20,000 were “well justified”); Glass v. UBS Fin. Servs., Inc., 2007 WL 221862, at *17
 25 (N.D. Cal. Jan. 26, 2007) (approving $25,000 awards to each of four representatives). Accordingly, 26 Plaintiffs assert that the requested Service Payments are reasonable. (Kerestenzis Decl., ¶¶ 36-37; 27 Botonis Decl., ¶¶ 6-10; Meikle Decl., ¶¶ 5-9.)

1           H. The Court Should Approve Phoenix Class Action Administration Solutions as Settlement Administrator.

2           The Parties have agreed to retain Phoenix Class Action Administration Solutions as the 3 Settlement Administrator. Phoenix has extensive experience in disseminating class action notices 4 and administering class action settlements in thousands of cases. Phoenix has provided a bid of 5 $11,765 to act as a class action Settlement Administrator for this case. (Kerestenzis Decl., Ex. A, 6 Settlement Agreement at ¶¶ 37, 49(g).)

7           VII. CONCLUSION

8           The Parties have negotiated a fair and reasonable settlement of claims. The amount of the 9 settlement will compensate members of the Class approximately $10.00 per month for each month
 10 worked during the Class Period which is fair and reasonable. The action and settlement also attained 11 prospective relief as the Defendant will implement a new expense reimbursement policy that includes 12 cell phone expense reimbursement and has upgraded company-issued devices with talk and/or text 13 capabilities to help minimize or obviate any need to use personal cell phones for work-related 14 purposes. Thus, having appropriately presented the materials and information necessary for 15 preliminarily approval, Plaintiffs respectfully request that the Court preliminarily approve the 16 settlement.
